Recommended language skills

French is our main teaching language. There are no formal language requirements for incoming students at Ensa Paris-Est.

However, to attend bachelors' level classes, intermediate level of French (B1 or B2 level) is highly recommended before arrival. To attend masters' level classes, a C1 level of French is recommended before arrival.

Some classes are taught in English for postgraduate students. A B2-C1 English level is also recommended to attend those classes.

Incoming students are able to attend a 30-hour French class, and architectural visits in Paris guided by an architect take place at the beginning of September during the week.

Calendar nominations

1. Student nominations and applications must reach Fr 318 Paris by:

- ➔ Winter term: End of Mai
- ➔ Spring term : Mi-Novembre

Application candidates' forms

Fr Paris 318 will inform nominated students of their acceptance within five weeks upon receipt of nominations. Students' applications must be submitted online as soon as they receive the acceptance message and instructions.

Grading systems

Definition	Grade	Distribution

Further information

Classes will generally start on the second week of September for fall term, and on the first week of February for spring term.

Incoming students should go to the International Office as soon as they get on campus to register, collect their student badge, and to have their Certificate of Arrival filled out and signed.

Ensa Paris-Est does not require a mandatory number of ECTS for each term.

Intensive French course

Every year, at the beginning September, the International Relations Department (SRI) organizes two weeks of French language courses in the campus, called Programme Intensif de Pré-rentrée de Français Langue Etrangère à l'Université Gustave Eiffel. This is an opportunity for exchange students to rapidly improve their level of French so that they can follow their academic courses in the best possible conditions. What's more, participants have the opportunity to meet other like-minded students during cultural activities.

Registration details will be sent by e-mail to the nominated students. International students coming to our school don't pay fees.
